. HOLDEN COOK AND JOHN CRAIG GENEALOGY

Holden Cook Branch

Holden Cook was born, lived, married and raised a family according to our best information, at Horncastle, England. The name of his wife and those of his family who remained in England are not known to the compiler of this genealogy. One daughter and two sons emigrated to Canada and this genealogy deals with the descendants of the two sons, and the families of John Craig the second principle in this genealogy.

The two sons Richard and William emigrated to Canada and married two Craig Sisters Jane and Margaret. The Holden Cook and John Craig Genealogy deals with the families of Richard and William Cook and Mary Craig Cooper, John Craig Jr. and Catherine Craig Johnson.

It is to be deplored that we know so little about Holden Cook. It is hoped that some day more information may be gleaned concerning the first principle of this genealogy.

John Craig and Catherine Keith Branch

John Craig the second principal of this genealogy was born in 1805 at Edinburgh, Scotland.

John Craig married; first, Jeannie McGill the daughter of a Paisley shawl designer. A daughter Jane was born to this union. The wife and mother died at the time of the birth of her daughter.

John Craig married, second, Catherine Keith and of this union the following children were born.

1. Mary            b. Feb. 21 1839, Edinburgh   Scotland.
2. Margaret    b.                1841, Edinburgh   Scotland.
3. John         b.                Greenbank? Canada.
4. Catherine b.                1848, Greenbank? Canada.

John and Catherine Craig with their two daughters Mary and Margaret emigrated from Edinburgh, Scotland to Toronto Canada in the year 1842 or 1843. John Craig's daughter Jane was left in Edinburgh, Scotland with her paternal grandmother. After her grandmother died Jane Craig joined her father in Canada.

John Craig was a Paisley shawl weaver and while in Edinburgh Scotland he was selected as one of two Paisley shawl weavers to weave the Paisley shawl worn by Queen Victoria at her coronation. After emigrating to Canada John Craig continued the profession of weaving.

Catherine Craig died in 1851 at Greenbank, Ontario, Canada. Interment in Twelve Mile Lake Cemetery near Greenbank, Ontario, Canada.

John Craig died in 1883 at Stanhope, Ontario, Canada. Interment in Twelve Mile Lake Cemetery near Greenbank, Ontario, Canada.

Robert Cooper and Mary Craig Branch

Catherine Elizabeth Cooper, the eldest daughter of Robert and Mary Craig Cooper was born July 12, 1861 at Kellogg, Oregon, and in 1863 moved with her parents to The Dalles, Oregon where she has since lived.

Catherine Cooper was educated in the public schools of The Dalles, Oregon and the Wasco Independent Academy. She taught in the public schools of Oregon and in the public schools of The Dalles, Oregon for eighteen years; after which time she returned to the home of her parents in order to care for them in their retiring years.

Catherine Cooper was a woman of high ambition, noble character and high intellectual attainment, but found her greatest enjoyment in the happiness of those whom she loved. Many young people have found inspiration to further study and for greater effort to achievement through her encouragement and help. Always her greatest efforts were to further the interests and happiness of others. She maintained an active interest in the affairs of the world at large and was always well informed upon topics of current interest.

Catherine Cooper resides at the Robert Cooper home residence which she inherited from her father together with a portion of the orchard which he developed on his homestead near The Dalles, Oregon. Making her home with her at present (1945) is her sister, Annie Jane Cooper.

3. Ruth                    b. August        5, 1905, The Dalles, Oregon.
4. Ralph George        b. April        15, 1908, The Dalles, Oregon.

George Cooper was educated in the public schools of The Dalles, Oregon and graduated from the high school in 1886. Later he attended the Wasco Independent Academy and the Portland Business College. As an occupation George Cooper followed horticulture, purchasing a tract of land adjoining the Robert Cooper homestead in 1898 on which he planted his first orchard and built the home which enlarged and remodeled to meet the needs of his growing family became the present family residence. After his father retired he assumed the responsibility for the management and operation of the original homestead in addition to his own orchards which were being constantly enlarged and developed. For a number of years fruit from his orchards was packed under his own labels and shipped to eastern markets, as well as those markets nearer The Dalles. From 1914 to 1920 George Cooper owned a half interest in an apple orchard in the Hood River Valley in addition to his other interests. In 1937 when local growers were experiencing difficulty in marketing their fruit he was one of the organizers of the Columbia Fruit Growers, of which he is a director. George Cooper has taken an active interest in community affairs, serving for a period of nine years on the school board of The Dalles, Oregon.

Etta Rowe Cooper was educated in the public schools at The Dalles, Oregon and graduated from the high school in 1889. She graduated from the Wasco Independent Academy in 1892 and taught in the public schools in The Dalles, Oregon from 1893 until her marriage in 1898.

At present date (1945) George Cooper and family reside on the home fruit ranch south east of The Dalles, on Route 2.
